Source, Operational Data, and Comments:

1. This report represents the remainder of the two raw reports which contained the information on rearmament groups used in ZJL-784 through ZJL-789.
2. Re paragraphs 1 and 2: OGATA Taketora was a minister in the KOISO Cabinet who, in the early spring of 1944, was the central figure in the MIAO Pin Incident, an attempt at making peace with the Chungking Government. We would assume that this man is still very unpopular with military men.

1. HATTORI Takushiro visited OGATA Taketora (緒方竹虎) to explain his stand on rearmament, but does not believe that the conversation had much effect on OGATA. HATOTAMA Ichiro is far more serious and concerned with the subject of rearmament.
2. OGATA is secretary to KOJIMA Kazuo (古島一雄) and states that he is now working for ASAHI Press. (F-3)
3. HATTORI and TSUJI Masanobu called on General UEDA Kenkichi (植田謙吉) at UEDA's house in Atami. TSUJI appears to be recovering from his series of operations. One of TSUJI's sons has TB and is receiving treatment with atomylin supplied by KATO Katsuro.
4. The Tokyo District Procurator's Office requested HATTORI to present his opinions before a group of officials, among them SAKUMA (伊久間), who is in charge of interrogating TSUJI in connection with TSUJI's war crimes case.
5. MIYAMOTO Daishiro (宮本代四郎), official of the S.I.B. in charge of the TSUJI case, called on HATTORI in early January 1952 and indicated that the S.I.B. would not expend so much of its energies supervising the activities of purged soldiers in the future but would concentrate on following the movements of JCF members.
6. HATTORI's opinions on some leaders of the Police Reserve Corps: both ISHIO Shigeru (伊代修), former Lt. Colonel who was chosen Chief of Staff of the General Inspection Division of the Second Jurisdictional District (Hokkaido) early in December; and IWANO (伊野) (fnu) (伊野), 45th class graduate of Army Officers School and former Lt. Colonel, who was chosen Chief of the Training Division, are capable men. URABE Sei (or Hijiri) (荒部 清) who was appointed deputy chief of the Investigative Section, General Inspection Division, Combined Units (Tokyo), is a former Navy Commander. He was dispatched by the Navy to various army schools and is familiar with ground warfare, but has no experience in intelligence work. Working under URABE is TSUTSUMI Masaji (津島 正次), 45th class graduate of the Army Officers School and a former Lt. Colonel who was once associated with HATTORI. TSUTSUMI is a very honest man and one who has had intelligence experience.

in the China Section of the General Staff Office. TSUTSUMI will have to do the planning for the Investigative Section.

7. There is much discontent within the Police Reserve because of the conduct of the United States Advisory Group which, they complain, is made up of uneducated men who demand unnecessary spit-and-polish of the Reserve members.

NOTES

1. Field Comment. Whether HATTORI has talked with HATOYAMA or has only heard HATOYAMA's opinions second-hand we do not know.
